Welcome to Brevard College

The following instructions will help you login to the Brevard College Network with your new Brevard College username and email address. When logging into your account for the first time, you will need to add a couple of additional pieces of information that will help our systems identify you and also help you reset your password if you ever forget it. You will only have to add this information when you first login to the Brevard College Network. If any of your information ever changes (cell phone /alternate email address) please drop by the IT Department with your student ID and we'll be glad to help straighten that out.

- (Usernames are the information to the left of the @brevard.edu only)
- (Email Addresses are the Whole account information (Brevardstudent@brevard.edu)
