Brevard College Achieves Impressive Rankings in Latest U.S. News & World Report

BREVARD — U.S. News & World Report has once again recognized Brevard College's outstanding performance in their rankings for 2023.

Brevard College's dedication to providing a transformative educational experience has been acknowledged through several key rankings:

- #33 in Regional Colleges South
- #21 in Best Value Schools
- #2 in Best Undergraduate Teaching
- #2 in Most Innovative Schools
- #54 in Top Performers on Social Mobility

President Bradley J Andrews expressed great pride in the College's performance, saying, "These rankings reflect the dedication and hard work of our entire Brevard College community. We are committed to providing an exceptional educational experience that empowers our students and supports their unique, individual goals."

Brevard College's consistent presence in the U.S. News & World Report rankings underscores its commitment to academic excellence and its mission to prepare students for lifelong learning and meaningful careers.

Brevard College is particularly proud of their ranking in Best Undergraduate Teaching as the teacher-student relationship holds a significant space at Brevard College.

“This ranking reaffirms our status as a leading institution in the southeastern United States,” said Dr. R. Chad Holt, Vice President of Admissions and Financial Aid. “It’s a testament to the College's unwavering commitment to academic quality and undergraduate teaching.”

Brevard College is consistently recognized as one of the best liberal arts colleges. The College’s focus on experiential learning, small class sizes, and location in the mountains of Western North Carolina near Asheville makes Brevard a top choice college for students around the world.
